

COMPORATA

BLISS

ASSOULINE

“Someone once said that Comporta is praise of slowness. It’s a perfect definition. We come here for the light, the quiet, the purity, the straw cabanas under the clear sky, the kindness of the locals. We come here for nothing. The village is simple. It’s not an idyllic scene for a postcard, but it’s a true village. The forest planted in the sand is immense and savage. We can feel alone in the world here.”

Daniel Soduca and Thierry Mérimou

